Take your corporate events to new heights

Looking for a corporate activity with a difference? Interested in the true engagement of employees, clients and stakeholders taking relationships to new “heights”? iFLY Downunder offers the ultimate in corporate days out which will literally see your team’s spirits soar. iFLY Downunder provides tailored indoor skydive packages in one of the largest most technically advanced vertical wind tunnels on the planet.

For the first time in Australia people of all ages and abilities can experience the unique thrill of human flight. No planes, no danger, no jumping – just the magical feeling of zero gravity. What better way to demonstrate anything is possible by stepping into our glass flight chamber and gently lifting into the air like a superhero – surely any corporate goal is now possible with your new found “superhuman” talent.

Our world-class flight instructors provide your team with comprehensive pre-flight training before they “gear up” in flight suits and safety gear. The all-round viewing platform allows you to share the experience and bring the team together.

iFLY Downunder offer group packages, which cater to groups of three and beyond and may include the rental of the whole facility if required. A comprehensive range of food and beverage packages are available and programs can be tailored depending on the customer’s requirements, objectives and budget.

State of the art conference rooms and facilities are onsite and include the latest in video and audio technology. Corporate accommodation packages can be arranged through your iFLY event representative.

ABOUT THE COMPANY

iFLY Downunder has opened Australia's first state of the art indoor skydiving centre at Penrith Panthers Entertainment Complex. Our 5 metre wide glass flight chamber is one of the world's largest and most technically advanced vertical wind tunnels. Over 5.5 million people have already flown with iFLY globally.

Owned and operated by passionate fliers, iFLY have created this incredible facility to share the excitement and freedom of flight with everyone. iFLY Downunder is part of a publicly listed company "Indoor Skydive Australia Group" (ASK:IDZ), a company created to build multiple indoor skydive centres throughout Australia, New Zealand and Asia.

Frequently Asked Questions

The iFLY Corporate Experience

What is a vertical wind tunnel?

Pretty simple really. It's a large glass chamber that extends skywards with powerful electric fans at the top. When these operate, air is drawn up through the tube, creating a cushion of air that you can fly on. The amount of airflow is precisely controlled to ensure that it matches the experience level of those in the tunnel. Visit our website www.iflydownunder.com.au for more details on the technology behind vertical wind tunnels.

Is it safe?

Yes. Every aspect of the wind tunnel design has been carefully considered to create a fully controlled environment that provides total safety. Our certified and highly-trained instructors are with you at all times during your flight to give guidance and reassurance.

Is it hard to breathe?

Not at all. It's a similar sensation to sticking your head out of a car window when it's moving. You'll feel the wind rush over your whole body as it lifts you effortlessly upwards. Just breathe normally and enjoy the ride.

What happens if there's a power cut?

In the unlikely event that the electricity supply were to fail, the 4 x 450hp fans will gradually slow down and you will be lowered to the ground in a safe, controlled manner.

How long is a flight?

Each flight within the wind tunnel lasts for almost 1 minute. That's actually more freefall time than a skydive from 14,000 feet. Our iFLY Corporate Package includes 2 flights, with an instructor helping you make the most of your time. You can also choose to add additional flights to our packages, see our Extra Options.

The whole experience normally takes approximately one hour however this will be dependent on your group size and how many flights you are doing. We will include the time required on our booking confirmation.

Is it scary?

It's really exciting and challenging, but we wouldn't call indoor skydiving scary. You don't have to leap off anything and there's no sensation of falling or anything that could make you feel motion sickness. We really do recommend anyone to try it.

Do I jump in from the top?

No, you just step into the flight chamber at ground level with your flight instructor. First time flyers generally only fly a couple of metres above the net with your instructor with you all the way.

Who can fly?

There's no experience required, so beginners, intermediates and experts can all fly. Of course, you need to be in good health and physical condition. If you've had a prior shoulder dislocation or back or neck problems, please contact us before booking to discuss your suitability. Anyone with a hard plaster cast, pregnant or under the influence of alcohol or non-prescriptive drugs is also unable to fly. Please read the waiver for full details.

The iFLY Downunder Sydney facility is wheelchair accessible and can fly people with certain physical disabilities, including amputation and paraplegia. Please contact us for details - we'd love to get you flying!

How old do you have to be?

Flyers can be as young as 3 years' old, with no upper age limit. Children under 18 years of age need to have a parent or guardian's signature on their waiver.

Is there a weight restriction?

If you are under 180cm, the weight limit is 105kg, and 115kg if you are over 180cm. These are guidelines only, if you don't fit into either of these categories, please contact us and we will discuss your personal situation.

Can I fly with anyone else?

With our iFLY Introductory packages we normally only fly people individually in the flight chamber, one-on-one with their instructor. To enhance your team building experience we have introduced an option to 'Share the Air', which lets 2 people fly in the tunnel together for their first flight. They will each have an instructor beside them offering continually guidance and then will fly their second flight individually.

The rest of the team can still share the experience, watching from the open plan observation deck.

What time should I get there?

This will depend on your group size and how long is required to check you all in, make sure everyone has signed waivers and get you geared up ready to fly. Your arrival time will be included on your booking confirmation, if you have any questions please contact a member of our Customer Flight Team.

What should I wear?

Please wear well-fitting, lace-up sneakers or running shoes. Other shoes are not suitable. Wear casual clothes, preferably pants and a shirt with no collar. You won't have to change out of these clothes - you simply put your flight suit on over them.

Why do I need to wear a flight suit?

The instructors are trained to grasp the handles of your flight suit, should you need assistance.

Can I do tricks and flips in the tunnel?

iFLY's first concern is for your safety – so tricks and flips are done by experienced flyers only. Some flyers are able to do turns, move up and down, and front to back during their first flight.

Will I need to take off my watch and jewellery?

Yes. You should remove any items that might flap around or become loose, such as earrings, necklaces, bracelets, watches, rings, and hair accessories. In addition, you should remove everything from your pockets. We do have lockers for your use, but we recommend that you leave anything valuable at home, as we cannot be responsible for lost or stolen property.

Can I wear my glasses?

Yes. We have larger goggles that fit straight over your glasses.

What is the sport of indoor skydiving?

Indoor skydiving was originally developed to allow experienced skydivers to train, whatever the weather. These days, it's soared in popularity around the world and become an adventure sport in its own right.

If you're interested, our instructors can help you improve your flying skills and master the manoeuvres required for competitive events. Visit our website www.iFLYdownunder.com.au for more information.

Happy Clients

Great job today team – stellar event! You guys were on fire and our clients/prospects absolutely loved it! Definitely not the last corporate event we partner with you on!! #smashedit

Our team really had an amazing experience at iFLY. It was a thrill adventure without the fuss, cost and risk of other team bonding activities. The team were so excited after the experience they couldn't wait to post on social media to tell all their friends that they work for the best company ever, all because they got to do indoor skydiving. We strongly recommended this for increasing staff morale and enabling your staff to have an adventure they'd not normally have the opportunity to do so.
